

Q1: Are the Values Central to Business Ethics Universal?

One of the perennial themes in business ethics – indeed, in ethics in general – is the difference between relative and absolute values ...

Q2: Is there a set of universal values that all can endorse? Q3: Are there "human values" that apply everywhere despite differences in time, place, and culture? ...

... Corruption appears to exist everywhere, so it would seem to require a persistent and consistent answer everywhere.

Q4: Can business ethics provide one (solution to corruption)?

Business ethics exists on three levels: the individual, the organizational, and the societal. At the organizational and societal levels, laws ...

Q5: What, then, is missing from humanistic business?

The problem is that if anything flourishes in this model, it is often the business rather than the employees. After all, free enterprise has the ...